Supporting its efforts with vigorous legal advocacy, the Foundation creates and advances effective solutions that help struggling older adults secure the essentials. The programs and services of AARP Foundation require funding beyond your membership dues. Through the generosity of members, we are able to help vulnerable seniors recover their confidence, regain a foothold, and transform their lives.

AARP FOUNDATION EXPERIENCE CORPS

Put your time, knowledge, and talent to use by volunteering to tutor and mentor young people. Experience Corps is a proven program made up of volunteers 50 and older who help struggling students become great readers before they finish the third grade.

AARP STATE OFFICES

Get more involved no matter where you live. AARP has offices in every state, D.C., Puerto Rico, and the U.S. Virgin Islands. Find your local AARP office for news, events, programs, and volunteering opportunities of interest to you.

CREATE THE GOOD

Find volunteer opportunities to share your life experiences, skills, and passions in your community. Post your own service projects and recruit helping hands for free.

DRIVE TO END HUNGER

Help us put an end to hunger for over 10 million Americans over 50 who don't have enough to eat. Through Drive to End Hunger, AARP Foundation is helping to raise awareness about the issue of hunger, donating millions of meals to food banks, building philanthropic support, and developing long-term, sustainable solutions.

Need to get in touch with AARP? Want to update your contact information? How about adding a spouse to your membership account? Whatever you're looking for, we're here to help. For faster service, please write your AARP membership number on all correspondence and have it available when calling AARP.

CHANGE OF ADDRESS

Please let us know six weeks in advance if you intend to move. There are a few easy ways you can inform us of any upcoming address changes.

By mail: If possible, please mail your mailing label from AARP The Magazine or AARP Bulletin with your change-of-address correspondence to the address at the bottom of this page.

Post office: A change-of-address form is available from your local post office. It's an easy way to notify us and others. Or you can submit your address changes to the USPS at moversguide.usps.com.

Online: You can also update your address and account information anytime when you visit aarp.org/membership.

Our privacy policy is included in this guide. But for more detailed information about our privacy practices, please visit aarp.org/privacy. To exercise your choices or ask questions about your membership, please contact us by mail, phone, or email.

AARP is committed to maintaining your trust by respecting and protecting your privacy. This Privacy Notice highlights how we collect, use, share, and protect personal data and the choices you have to limit how we share your personal data and communicate with you. Please visit www.aarp.org/privacy to review our full Privacy Policy, which contains additional details.

DATA COLLECTION & USE

We collect and use personal data from or about you to help us support our nonprofit mission and serve our membership, including to communicate with you through various channels, deliver the information, programs, and products/services you request, and evaluate the effectiveness of our programs and membership offerings. When you apply for membership, we initially collect basic personal data from you such as your name, contact information, and date of birth. Throughout your membership we collect additional personal data, such as information about your participation in AARP activities and member services. We collect this data through your interactions with us offline and through our websites and applications. We may also collect data about you from other sources.

DATA SHARING

Except as highlighted below, we do not share your personal data with unaffiliated entities (entities that are not owned or controlled by AARP) without your consent. We do share personal data with companies we have selected to provide AARP-branded products or services and/or discounts to AARP members. Some of these providers pay a fee for the right to use our brand and to access our membership list and related data. These fees are used to support our nonprofit mission. These providers are contractually required to treat the personal data AARP provides as confidential, and to use the personal data only to offer, provide, maintain, and analyze the contracted products, services, or discounts to AARP members. Some of these providers may collect personal data about our members through their own interactions with such members and may share some or all of this data with AARP to help us provide more effective and personalized service. These providers' data-collection and sharing practices are governed by their own privacy policies. We also occasionally share personal data with select, unaffiliated nonprofit organizations for use in their own social missions. We also share personal data with vendors and social media networks we hire to provide services or perform business functions on our behalf, but these vendors are contractually obligated to use such personal data only to provide the services AARP has requested they perform on our behalf. Finally, we may share personal data pursuant to legal requirements as necessary to protect ourselves, our members, or others, or in connection with a business transfer or substantial transaction such as a sale, merger, consolidation, or bankruptcy.

DATA PROTECTION

We use administrative, technical, and physical security measures designed to protect personal data against accidental, unlawful, or unauthorized destruction, loss, alteration, access, disclosure, or use.

YOUR CHOICES

We strive to provide you reasonable choices regarding our collection, use, and sharing of your personal data. We provide you access to review and correct your personal data, provide you options regarding how we share personal data with the providers of AARP-branded products or services and/or discounts and unaffiliated nonprofit organizations, and provide you control over how we communicate with you, among other choices.
